J. I. PACKER

General Editor of the Anglican Agenda Series

British-born Canadian Christian theologian Dr. J.I. Packer currently serves as the Board of Governors' Professor of Theology at Regent College in Vancouver, British Columbia and is considered one of the most influential Evangelicals in the world.

In 1979, Packer moved to Vancouver to take up a position at Regent College, eventually being named the first Sangwoo Youtong Chee Professor of Theology, a title he held until his retirement. He is a prolific writer and frequent lecturer, but he is best known for his book, Knowing God. He is a frequent contributor to and an executive editor of Christianity Today and has served as general editor for the English Standard Version Bible, a contemporary revision of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible.

American theologian Mark Noll wrote, "Packer's ability to address immensely important subjects in crisp, succinct sentences is one of the reasons why, both as an author and speaker, he has played such an important role among American evangelicals for four decades."

The Anglican Agenda Series

The Anglican Agenda Series aims to open up current questions that call for thought, discussion, prayer and decision at this time among Anglicans in Canada as well as the wider Anglican Communion. The series is sponsored by Anglican Essentials Canada, which seeks all-round renewal of life and strength in the Anglican Church. Writers are Anglican Church personnel speaking out of their loyalty to the Church and their acute sense of its present needs. It is hoped that this series will spark deep personal reflection and group discussion within and between parishes, so that we all may be better prepared for the difficult and demanding era into which, as it seems, our Church is now entering.

The series currently has 12 titles in print with 3 additional titles due out in early December, 2008. Each book contains a set of discussion questions making them suitable both for group study as well as personal reflection.
